

Top Tips for Talking

Get your child's attention first

Why should I do this?

Young children find it difficult to listen while they are doing something. If they are busy playing they may find it hard to listen to what you are saying.

How can I do this?

- ◇ Before you start talking go over to your child and get down to their level and face to face with them.
- ◇ Wait for your child to stop playing and look at you before you start talking.
- ◇ Say their name before you start talking, it may be helpful also to tap them on the shoulder.
